The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's misconduct and how she let him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He has not been to school in the morning but has skipped school that afternoon and went fishing. Tom gets in trouble for being a mechanic. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tom is not. Tom's half-brother, Joe, runs away and Tom has to chase after him.

Tom goes out of the house in search of his lost companion. While wandering the streets of St. Prue's, he meets a man who offers him a job. Tom accepts the job and eventually becomes a mechanic.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and decides to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly send Tom out to whitewash the fence. He passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alms," a kind of alms. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tucker.

She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects nastily on Tom’s misdeeds and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He has run away from school that afternoon and spent the day hunting and exploring. His clothes are full of dirt and show that he has not been to school all day. His collar is still wet from the rain and his shirt is torn. Aunt Polly is satisfied. She asks Tom if he has been to school all day. Tom lies to her, saying that he has been to school all day and was not allowed to come home until evening. Aunt Polly is not satisfied and eventually takes the newspaper all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom sees boys, and Tom tries to get them to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “whale ally,” a kind of marble. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his trolley.
